A screenshot of the fILL advanced search interface. The top section has a "General keyword" search bar and "Search" and "Basic" buttons. Below this, there are fields for "Title:", "Author:", "Subject:", and "Series:". The "Series:" field is highlighted with a yellow background and contains the text "literacy collection" with a small "x" icon to its right. To the right of the search fields is a "Search help" section. It states "fILL does a general keyword search by default" and lists examples: "Specific title: ti='The case for mars'", "Specific author: au='Zubrin, Robert'", "Specific subject: su='mars planet'", and "Series: series='fear street'". At the bottom of the search help section, it says "You can combine these using the connectors AND, OR, NOT".
